

GERMANY WILL OFFER CERTAIN CONCESSIONS

But Her Foreign Office Professes to be Faced by Problem of Satisfying the United States and Still Not Arouse German Element Clamoring for Submarine Activity

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS ARE MORE HOPEFUL

But It Is Not Known Whether the Concessions Will be Broad Enough to Meet the Demands of United States—Confidential Advices From Gerard Received

Washington, D. C., April 24.—Confidential despatches from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin indicate that Germany will make certain concessions to the United States in response to the note demanding the immediate abandonment of the present submarine warfare methods. Whether the concessions will be sufficiently broad to meet the American demands appears to be uncertain. However, officials effect an air of hopefulness for an amicable settlement of the issue.

It is understood that Ambassador Gerard received broad intimations that the German government will go to great lengths to preserve friendly relations with the United States. He is understood to have gained the impression from the officials of the Berlin foreign office, including Foreign Minister Von Jagow, that the Berlin government is confronted with the finding of a way to satisfy the United States without arousing an element which insists upon a relentless submarine campaign. Ambassador Gerard's despatches were highly confidential and were received during the night.

Berlin, April 23, via Copenhagen to London, April 24.—The imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, returned to Berlin this afternoon, which would seem to justify the assumption that the empire's responsible leaders at great headquarters have finished consideration of the American note and reached a decision concerning Germany's reply. What this reply will be is naturally unknown to any but the highest officials.

The chancellor's return, it is understood, was not expected until Tuesday, hence a general decision appears to have been reached earlier than looked for. There is no intimation of when the reply will be formulated, but there seems to be much significance in the fact that the Lokal Anzeiger, which is consistently well informed, says that "Germany's strength and prestige have so increased in the last 20 months in the eyes of the whole world that the German government has, indeed, only to follow the commands of wisdom."

The obvious deduction, according to the view here, is that there is nothing to prevent Germany from making certain concessions if the leaders feel that they can properly do so. Whether they do feel that they can go so far is, of course, another question.

There is unquestionably a considerable peace party in Germany, which includes powerful financial interests represented by the Bourse organs and the Frankfurter Zeitung, and including also the Berlin Tageblatt and Socialist organs. Certain high officials, also, would consent to a breach or war with the United States only most reluctantly and under pressure of what seemed to them an unavoidable necessity.

The French Keep Worrying the Crown Prince's Army at That Point, and Paris Reports That Progress Was Made Northwest of the Wood

A FEW PRISONERS WERE CAPTURED

ASKED FOR PROBATION

But Alex McMillan Failed to Get His Wish in Montpelier Court.

Montpelier city court presented a busier appearance this forenoon than it has for many a Monday, several intoxication cases being disposed of and two cases in which the respondent faces a charge of illegal selling being continued.

Alexander McMillan, who was adjudged guilty Saturday afternoon after a trial, on evidence submitted by Officers Sloan and Baldwin, the respondent not testifying, asked to be placed on probation. His was a third offense and as his term of parole had just expired, the grand juror, A. C. Theriault, recommended that he be sent to Waterbury for a period of six months. McMillan notified the court that he had a new job in Barre and believed he would not again be an offender. The court observed that Barre, after the first of next week, might not be an ideal place for one who appeared to be inclined to imbibe much too freely on numerous occasions and McMillan was sent to Waterbury for six months, after a fine of $15 had been suspended.

Charles LaRose, a West Berlin farm laborer, who was arrested Saturday by Officer Baldwin after he had tried to take out a hunting license at the city clerk's office but failed because he could not remember his name, pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication and said he hoped to pay a fine, which, with costs, amounted to $11.40. Charles Ballard agreed that he had been guilty of a third offense and was fined $15 and costs. He had scant hopes of raising the money but was given a chance to do so in the custody of an officer.

The case against Annie Marchi, charged with selling, was continued until May 8 on the request of Attorney William Lord, counsel for the respondent. Because of the absence from the city of State's Attorney Gleason, the case against Mrs. Trueta of Berlin street, also charged with selling, was continued indefinitely.

Byron Stanley, a truckman, was arrested on the charge of stealing a bale of hay. He pleaded guilty and will be sentenced this afternoon. Mrs. Mary Monti of Putnam street was arrested on a warrant issued by Grand Juror Theriault, charging furnishing. She will be arraigned later in the day.

BURNED FATALLY
IN HIS HOME

George Maynard, 26, of Burlington, May Have Tipped Over a Kerosene Lamp—He Was Burned from Head to Foot.

Burlington, April 24.—George Maynard died at Mary Fletcher hospital yesterday afternoon from burns received at his residence on Conger avenue Saturday evening. Considerable mystery attaches to the manner in which Maynard was burned. The first that was known of anything unusual was when the man rushed out of the house screaming for help, his clothing being in flames. A lively blaze had started in his apartment on the second floor. Aid was at once given the man who was immediately rushed to the hospital in the police ambulance while the fire department responded to an alarm. The theory is that Maynard, who was alone in the house at the time, was preparing a lunch and either tipped over a kerosene lamp or the lamp exploded. Whatever happened, his clothing became saturated almost instantly with flaming oil. The unfortunate man's body was burned from head to foot.

Mr. Maynard was 26 years of age. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Alma Duhamel and whom he married about five years ago. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Regina Maynard; two brothers, Arthur and Frederick; and four sisters, Mary, Bertha, Anna and Yvon, all of Lakeside. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Arsene Boucher on North street.

SECOND CLASH
NEAR SATEVO
IS REPORTED

The American and Carranza Troops Said to Have Met in an Encounter in Which Several Negro Soldiers of the United States Were Killed; Report Not Confirmed

EL PASO POLICE
GET INFORMATION

Juarez Authorities Seem to Credit the Report, but Nothing Has Been Heard of It on the American Side of the Boundary, and the Story Is Discredited

El Paso, Tex., April 24.—Early this morning the local police received reports that fighting had begun between Carranza and American forces at Satevo. The information is said to have come from influential sources in Juarez, and the police believe the report to be true. It was said that several negro soldiers had been killed in the fighting.

At Fort Bliss nothing had been heard of the reported clash, but an investigation was immediately started. Military headquarters at Columbus, N. M., had no information regarding the reported engagement and the story is generally discredited.

TROOPS READY FOR ANYTHING.

The repositioning of American forces in Mexico, as planned by Major General Funston, has been in large measure completed, it was learned to-day. The troops are now concentrated in strong units along the line of communication said to be more than 250 miles long. Ready to meet any eventuality, the American expedition will now maintain a military status quo while the diplomatic negotiations go forward at Washington.

The pursuit of Villa is over, in the belief of army officers at Fort Bliss. They believe that the troops will now engage the small wandering bands of Villa bandits that roam in north Chihuahua.

PABLO LOPEZ CAUGHT.

A Villa Lieutenant Held Responsible for Murder of 17 Americans.

El Paso, Tex., April 24.—Pablo Lopez, Villa lieutenant, held responsible for the murder of 17 Americans at Santa Ysabel and who was shot through both legs in the raid on Columbus, N. M., was captured Saturday by Carranza forces near the scene of his crime, according to information received yesterday by General Gabriel Gaviro, commandant at Juarez. This news was contained in messages from the Mexican government operator at Santa Ysabel, who said he had himself seen Lopez. It was hoped information regarding Villa might be obtained from Lopez.

Three of Lopez' followers were captured with him, the four being taken in a mountain cave where they had been in hiding in a starving condition. All are being taken to Chihuahua City.

Residents of Santa Tomas also notified General Gaviro yesterday that their town was attacked yesterday morning by Manuel Baca, recently reported killed in an engagement with American soldiers and 15 other Villa bandits. They said they defeated and scattered the bandits after killing Baca and several others.

The news from Washington that there was no present intention to withdraw the troops from Mexico was received with satisfaction by army officers here, although they frankly admitted they were puzzled by the wording of Secretary Baker's announcement.

The words "pending an opportunity for further co-operation with the forces of the de facto government" was particularly the subject of discussion. The only co-operation which will prove really effective in the opinion of local officers is the use of the railroads and they assume that Secretary Baker's statement means a halt in the Villa pursuit until the railroad question is adjusted.

ALWAYS LIVED IN MONTPELIER.

Charles W. Guernsey Was Employed by Lane Co. 51 Years.

After being ill for years and being confined to the house for 14 months, Charles W. Guernsey, a lifelong resident of Montpelier, died at his home, 35 Loomis street in this city, shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, the cause of death being heart disease and complications. He was a veteran employee of the Lane Manufacturing company, having been employed by that concern for 51 years until forced by ill health to give up. During the last few years of his employment there he had a place near the office.

Charles Warren Guernsey was born in Montpelier December 7, 1845, being one of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Guernsey. He was a member of the Odd Fellows' order for 40 years and had held many offices in the Montpelier lodge, he being elected to grand lodge positions.

EASTER SPIRIT NOT DAMPENED BY DRIZZLING RAIN

Barre Churches Housed Large Audiences Yesterday in Spite of the Dreariness of an April Storm—Splendid Services Held.

Easter weather was not fashioned to the liking of folk who esteem the festival merely because it offers an opportunity for a staggering motley of color in the matter of dress, but here in Barre the observance usually accorded one of the most significant days in the calendar of the Christian church measured well up to the real meaning of the day. Without a single exception the substantial triumph of the resurrection story was duly emphasized in all of the city churches. Appropriate musical programs, special services and attractive Easter decorations marked the less formal observance of the festival wherever people assembled to worship. In all instances uncommonly large congregations were in attendance and it has been the tendency in recent years undue stress has been placed on Easter day in its sartorial aspects, it cannot be said that the true spirit of the festival was lacking in the churches.

To be sure there were those who were ready to hang the weather man in stylish effigy. If there was an abundance of Easter spirit among those who wended their way to places of worship, forenoon and evening, there was also an abundance of rain, rain which got a rolling start in mid-afternoon Saturday and continued sternly to its spring task with unremitting vigor. As one well known, if rather ribald, rhymester would have written of the day, "the thirsty earth soaked up the rain, and drank and gaped for rain again." Its graping was not in vain, one might add. Raincoats were worn extensively, it was to be noted, and the proper mode of wearing them was to have the collar tightly buttoned about the ears.

Perhaps for the reason that Easter came so late this year, people who looked for an April sun shining in all of its pristine glory had a right to expect something of a concession from the weather man. That failing, there followed naturally the desire to hang in effigy. Eleven years ago Easter fell on April 23 and it will not occur again so late until 1943. And 1943 is a long time to wait for fair Easter weather. Even longer one must wait for an April 23 Easter.

Invariably, as was to be expected, preachers in the pulpits of the several city churches sought to impress upon their hearers the significance of Easter and the risen Redeemer. Anywhere, at a certain hour Sunday morning, one might hear Easter music or the program of Easter proclaimed by one ordained. At St. Monica's church, where Easter joys in the order of worship are attendant upon the sorrows associated with a rigid observance of Lent and the tragedy of Good Friday, Rev. Father McKenna officiated at two morning masses and conducted services again last evening. The church was attractively decorated and flowers of unusual beauty adorned the altar. Knights of St. Aldemar commandery, No. 11, K. T., 60 strong, listened to an Easter sermon in the church of the Good Shepherd, where the rector, Rev. W. J. M. Beattie, officiated at two morning services and again in the evening. "Alive Forevermore" was the topic of the sermon preached in the Congregational church by Rev. J. W. Barnett. A reception of members followed and at 7 o'clock in the afternoon, a quartet rendered the Easter cantata, "Alleluia, Hail with Gladness." At the Hedding Methodist church, Rev. B. J. Lipsky observed his first Easter in Barre with a fitting homily on the significance of the day. An Easter concert, to which a number of the children contributed, was especially enjoyed.

"The Resurrection of the Body" was the Easter topic chosen by Rev. Edgar Crossland at the First Presbyterian church. An Easter cantata, "Voices from the Garden," by the children of the intermediate grades, and a concert by the primary department of the Sunday school featured the evening service. At the Universalist church Rev. J. B. Beardon preached on "The Easter Secret" at the forenoon service and special music was rendered by the quartet. Rev. Bert J. Lehigh, recently installed as pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke on "The Resurrection of Jesus." Instead of the customary evening service, members of the Bible class gave an Easter concert in the evening. Children of the Swedish Baptist mission in the Foresters hall were represented in an Easter program and at the Italian Baptist mission on Brook street there were Easter services in the afternoon.

MILES—CASHEN.

Barre Man and Montpelier Woman Married at St. Augustine's.

A pretty church wedding occurred at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Augustine's church, Montpelier, Miss Mildred Sarah Cashen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cashen of North Franklin street, Montpelier, being married to Howard M. Miles of Burlington, son of D. M. Miles of Barre, the rector, Rev. P. J. Long, officiating at the nuptial mass. They were attended by Miss Annie E. Cashen, a sister of the bride, and Roswell Miles of Graniteville, a cousin of the groom. Wagner's bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played by Miss Claire Lynch, and the church choir, of which the bride was a member, sang, and solos were sung during the mass by Misses Agnes and Gertrude Fountain and David Burns. Miss Emma Henry sang "Ave Maria."

The ushers were Arthur C. Theriault and Francis Kelleher.

The bride was attired in a gray tulle suit with a hat to match and carried orange blossoms, a gift from Mrs. Bert Cashen of Tampa, Fla. The bridesmaid wore a tan suit with hat to match and carried roses. Immediately after the wedding ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Montpelier high school in the class of 1912 and for the past three years has been employed in the office of the Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance company. RIFLE FOUND
NEAR CORPSE

Joseph L. Felch of Waits River Shot Through the Temple at Sugarhouse

AUTHORITIES ARE INVESTIGATING

He Left Home Early Saturday Evening; Body Found Sunday

Waits River, April 24.—The body of Joseph L. Felch, with a bullet wound through the temple, was found in his sugarhouse, one-half a mile from his home, early Sunday morning by searchers who had gone there when he failed to return home the night before. As the circumstances of the death were not wholly clear, although a rifle was found under his body, the county authorities started an investigation, State's Attorney Frank S. Williams of Bradford ordering the body brought to this village and guarded until the arrival of Dr. B. H. Stone and Dr. C. H. Dalton of the state laboratory in Burlington. An autopsy was expected to be made late today.

Mr. Felch left his home early Saturday evening, announcing that he was going to the sugarhouse to boil sap, the sugarhouse being located west of his home. As he did not return during the night, Mrs. Felch, her daughter, Bernice, and Miss Josie Hero, who was employed in the house, went out in search. Their search was soon rewarded with the discovery of the body, lying face downward, on the floor of the sugarhouse and beside the pan where he had been boiling sap. Help was summoned and the county authorities were notified.

State's Attorney Williams gave permission for the removal of the body to this village. When the body was lifted a rifle was found. The nature of the wound was such as to indicate that death was instantaneous. Although it is said there was no ground for believing that anyone had murderous intentions against Felch, there was still some doubt about its being a case of suicide.

Felch was 32 years of age and had resided in Waits River all his life, having been a native of the place. He leaves his wife and one daughter, Bernice.

OLD RESIDENT OF CABOT.

N. G. Rogers Was Born in East Part of the Town.

Hale, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating. Members of Green Mountain F. & A. M., of which the deceased was a charter member, attended the service and there was a large gathering of townspeople. Burial was made in the village cemetery.

Mr. Rogers' death removes one of the older residents of the village. He was born in East Cabot 83 years ago and is survived by two sons, B. B. Rogers, a Cabot merchant, and D. G. Rogers, who lives in Connecticut. His sister, Miss Sarah Rogers, lives here and his grandson, Earl Rogers, is engaged in the grocery business here. Mrs. Rogers died in 1908. The deceased held the office of town constable for several years and was widely known in this section as a cattle buyer. When the Masonic lodge was organized here in 1865, he was one of the charter members. Only one other member who was on the original roll of the lodge survives.

SHOULDER BROKEN IN SPILL.

Edward Connell's Automobile Turned Turtle on Slippery Bank.

Lyndonville, April 24.—Edward Connell, clerk of State Fish and Game Commissioner J. W. Titcomb, suffered a broken shoulder and many bruises when his automobile turned turtle on the West Burke road, about a mile and a half north of the village Saturday night.

Connell T. Eggleston of Rutland and Homer Counter were in the car when they met a horse and wagon on a sharp curve. In attempting to pass the team the automobile went over a steep embankment and all three men were pinned under it.

Eggleston escaped injury but Counter was somewhat cut and bruised. One of the two young women who were in the wagon went for help while the other attempted to lift the car off the men, a feat which she was unable to perform until help had arrived. Mr. Connell was taken to his home at Lyndon Center. His injuries are not considered dangerous.
